WHAT IT'S ALL ABOUT

The Water Damage Restoration Training (WRT) course is designed to provide basic education for technicians and other materially interested parties in the science and practice of water damage restoration. This course will cover extraction, basic containment and basic mold procedures.

LEARN HOW TO NAVIGATE

This course is designed to teach students that perform remediation work to give them a better concept of water damage, its effects and techniques for drying of structures. This course will give residential and commercial maintenance personnel the background to understand the procedures necessary to deal with water losses, sewer back-flows and contamination such as mold.

Cian Chase - IICRC Instructor

Cian has helped to build Paul Davis Restoration of Greater St. Paul since our first office opened in 2010. Both in the field and behind the desk, Cian has had experience in every role on the emergency mitigation side of the business. Cian began as a team of 1, producing the jobs, writing the estimates, communicating with the insurance carrier and collecting payments. As the business grew, he recruited and managed more and more mitigation teams to service the Twin Cities and surrounding area. He has been responsible for project coordination, estimating and sales, business development, continuing education to insurance industry, marketing, coaching, technical training, technician safety and public relations.

Cian has taught over 100 continuing education courses since 2011. He specializes in bringing his real-world experience to the classroom and is able to provide endless stories from the field which make for a more engaging, entertaining and substantive captivating continuing education experience. Cian was recently approved to teach Water Restoration Technician (WRT) and Fire & Smoke Remediation Technician (FSRT) classes in an official capacity as an IICRC certified instructor.
