

The Rhode Island Interscholastic League (RIIL) is excited once again to offer the Operation Clean Competition Program for the 2022-23 school year. Made possible by a grant provided through the Rhode Island Foundation, Operation Clean Competition is the RIIL's outreach and awareness program focused on informing Rhode Islanders about Appearance & Performance Enhancing Substances and Nutrition & Dietary Supplement Safety. We accomplish this through FREE educational programs. It is our goal to have all Rhode Islanders live informed!

We will be partnering with the Taylor Hooton Foundation for the 10th straight year to bring these programs to middle schools, high schools, colleges and community organizations across the state. We offer two valuable research-based educational programs:

- One centers on the issues of Appearance and Performance Enhancing Substances and discusses many issues including Anabolic Steroids, HGH, and Dietary Supplements, while exploring many of the issues and pressures our youth are facing both on and off the field.
- The other program focuses on Nutrition and Dietary Supplement Safety. The goal of this program is to educate on the realities of supplements, knowing what you are putting in your body, and making educated nutritional decisions. Both programs can be tailored to your audience's needs and time constraints.

Thanks to the Rhode Island Foundation, these programs are being offered at NO COST TO YOU! If you have hosted this program in the past, we would love to come back again this year. If we were unable to visit your campus previously, we would be thrilled to bring this message to you for the first time!

For more information on Operation Clean Competition, please visit <https://www.riil.org/page/3324> or operationcleancomp.com

You can also reach Brian Parker at the Taylor Hooton Foundation at brian.parker@taylorhooton.org to schedule your program today!

